A SWEDISH TORPEDO.

Impelled by Its Own Force It Has A Swedish army officer has patented an air torpedo of a construction heretofore unknown, and received a government sub sidy for exploiting it, according to a communication to the State Department from Consul General Guenther at Frankfort, Ger-

According to the patent specifications, the motion of the projectile is caused exclusively by a force which is developed in the tor little by little from ignition of a gas generated from slowly burning material The pressure of the gas gradually becoming stronger propels the torpedo through an by which gas can escape a ne bottom. Once in motion, therefore, th torpedo increased its speed in accordance The initial velocity need be but force. Thus the discharge from the torpede gun constructed for the purpose occasion no report or recoil and bat little pressure making the handling of the device perfectly safe. At the trials made so far, the torpedoes are reported to have traversed distance of 16,000 feet.

NOT BELIEVED BY OFFICIALS. That Gen. Wood Has Given Certain

Assurances to the Cubans. No credence is given here in official circles to the report from Havana that Genreal Wood has informed members of the Cuban constitutional convention that the declaration of Congress as contained in the Platt amendment to the army appropriation bill is merely a basis for further negotiations as to the relations between the United States and Cuba, and that the rejection of the amendment by the convention would be followed by the reconvening of the American Congress in special session. There is authority for the statement that the remarks attributed to General Wood are contrary to the view of the matter held by the principal officers of the administration. Briefly stated, the expectation in Washington is that the Cuban convention will accan Congress eventually, if not in the im-mediate future, and that the Cuban delegates will be given to understand that the action of Congress was final, having been taken after thorough consideration of the to be modified or amended by that body even if called together again expressly for that purpose, except in the event of the de-velopment of a radical and unlooked for change in the situation. As one official exchange in the situation. As one omciai ex-pressed it, the action of Congress on the Cuban question was taken with the view of obviating an extra session of Congress as well as to acquaint the Cuban constitutional convention with what was expected of it. He said that the declaration of Congress will stand until the convention is ready to act in accordance therewith, otherwise the existing military government will continue in power at least until Decemb next, when Congress reassembles in regular session, and the Cuban question can be again taken up for such legislation as may

GERMAN MILLIONAIRE WHO ONCE SERVED WITH MOSBY.

Desires Information About Several Persons Who Formerly Lived in Virginia.

Washington Correspondence Atlanta Constitution. "Some days ago a paragraph appeared in the newspapers to the effect that Baron Massow of Germany had asked for a list of the survivors of Mosby's famous command, and that it was his purpose to leave something like $2,000,000 for distribution among these men. It was explained that Baron Massow was one of Mosby's men, and that his heart was as warm toward his fellows in these days of his great prosperity as their hearts had been toward the young German soldier who shared their trials and hardships in the days of civil strife. When this report reached the ears of Col. Mosby that gallant old warrior sententiously remarked that if there was anything like $2,000,000 in sight the number of survivors of his command would be sure to grow to the proportions of an army.

Not much attention was paid to the re-Not much attention was paid to the report, as it was regarded as one of those fairy stories which keep coming across the water—on a par with the stories of immense estates seeking American claimants. But there is something in it. Col. Mosby, who is here in Washington, remembers Baron Massow as one of the men with his command, but says he has heard nothing from him since the war, although he understands he is a rich man, and was at one stands he is a rich man, and was at one time court chamberlain to the King of Prussia. The story grows, however, out of a letter written by an American lady at the request of Baron Massow, to a gentle-man in Washington who was himself a member of the Mosby command. This lady's letter concluded with the statement that Baron Massow is now one of the high-est commanding generals of the German army, and that she thought the reason the baron asked for the address of certain peo-ple he knew when in the confederate army was that he might do something for them.

Those Who Are Wanted. "The letter is not, however, a request for a list of the names and addresses of the survivors of the Mosby command, as the first publication had it. It is a request for information as to the present whereabouts of the following persons, if living: 1. Colonel John T. Mosby. 2. William Chapman, who was an officer in the same corps.

3. A family named Carter, who lived at Glen Weiby, near Rectorstown, and had a daughter named Sophie, who married a 4. A family of Scotts who lived at Clarkwood, in Fauquier or Loudoun counties. There was a Miss Susan Morton Sco.t, and a brother, John Scott, who wrote a book, artisan Life wan Mosby." There was also an aunt, a Mrs. Lee.

5. Mr. John Jeffries, who before the war lost an arm in a machine and had a farm near Rectorstown, or Salem.

6. Mr. Dick Buckner, who also had a farm in the neighborhood, and was a fine musician, and who had a beautiful sister.
7. In a fight near Dranesville, or Aukershop, Baron Massow was severely wounded on February 22, 1864, and was nursed in the house of a farmer near the road, whose daughters hid him from the enemy. One daughter was a widow, a Mrs. Reed, or Read or Reid

PHILIPPINE TARIFF SCHEDULE.

The Rates Recommended by the Taft

A copy of the proposed Philippine tariff schedule, as recommended by the Philippine commission, has been forwarded to the War Department. The Cuban tariff has been followed in the main. In two cases only throughout the entire bill are ad valorem duties assessed, namely, on crude materials and on goods not elsewhere provided for at 10 and 25 per cent, respectively. Thus is entirely satisfactory to the business interests in the Philippines, it is stated, as the just and proper appraisement of imported merchandise is entirely beyond the existing customs service, and the mercantile classes are disposed to accept any tariff which the commission proposes, provided the duties are all specific

Throughout the bill the question of revenue has been kept steadily in view. The necessary food products, the raw materials of Philippine industries, the tools, imple-ments and machinery of production, the sea, and the producers and transmitters of power have been taxed as lightly as possible. To manufactured goods and articles have and necessities of the consumers, due redustries and to those which must be in-evitably introduced in the near future. Luxuries, whether in beverages, clothing, carriages or ornaments, have been taxed as highly as is consistent with the production of the most revenue. Kerosens oil, which even now is cheaper than the native cocoanut oil, has been reduced to a point which, in the opinion of the commission, will cause the greatest importation

The duty on coal has been reduced 50 per On crude petroleum, which, it is stated, owing to the great and still adto almost a nominal rate. Building ma terials of every description and all indus-trial machinery bears but little burden The scheme of duties on jewelry and mounted precious stones, it is believed, will values, and will greatly increase the in-come therefrom. The tariff on watches is so regulated as to greatly reduce the present prices of the lower grades. The present tariff taxes all gold watches at $3.25 and all others at $1.34. Under the new bill the cheapest watch unjeweled is charged 25 cents, and the cheapest jeweled watch 25 cents, and the cheapest jeweled watch in a silver case will pay 50 cents.

Dressed leather, boots and shoes, hard rubber goods and waterproof stuffs are very heavily laxed. In tissues of cotton and linen the heavily weighted goods are greatly reduced. The earths and sizing introduced in these articles by some manufacturers to make weight and give a deceptive finish must be removed by washing and drying before assessing the duty. Silks have been raised about 50 per cent.

All food products and canned goods have come in for a large reduction. The duty come in for a large reduction. The duty on wheat flour has been reduced largely. As to exports, the tax on abaca has where the revenues resulting, it is stated, can be increased without being burdensome in the Philippines. On copra, also, increased demand and price has led to the belief that a tax similar to that on abaca can be levied without appreciably affecting the producer or burdening his power of competition.

To the Editor of The Evening Star:

In reading over a list of names under the title "A Roll of Honor" in The Washington Star of High School boys who were in the war, I notice with considerable regret

I wish to second the motion that the inaugural committee be made permanent to secure a change of date, and the whole country, if the question is put, will say "ave." If this is not done we will have the same old story-temporary indignation, disgust, apathy, indifference, then a few newspaper jokes as the next date approaches, a flurry, a perfunctory speech or two in Congress and then-the same old thing. The case needs no argument. April 30 is the historic date we should desire to perpetuate and honor, and the seasonable date for comfort and delight in the occasion. The individual congressman at any time con-cedes all you say on the subject, but he will not act. Perish the base insinuation that to a single congressional year of three months he is unwilling to add two months more of work. He is wisely and patriotically looking after the river and harbor bill and has no time to waste on sentiment or the health and comfort of a President and people that are not voters. The President knew about Marchawinds when he ran for the office, and if the people do not like the weather let them stay at home. And as for Washington, he had to get inaugurated when he could. It is plain that if the change comes it must be by some other than the congressional initiative. Here is the opportunity. Our inaugural committee has accomplished its work with remarkable

The second of the seventh annual course of lectures of the Churchman's League of the District of Columbia was given Tuesday evening at the Church of the Epiphany, the Very Rev. Wm. M. Groton, dean of the Philadelphia Divinity School, being the lecturer. Subject, "The Church of England and the Mission of Augustine." The reverend gentleman said: "English authorities formerly agreed in recognizing the pre-eminence of Celtic missionary effort in establishing the English church. A his-torical school, however, has recently appeared in the Church of England, wh purpose seems to be to minimize the Celtic influence, and to make the English church wholly a continuance of the Augustinian mission. But the position of this school is open to grave criticism. Its members unfairly disparage the old British church, and still more unfairly the larger Celtic church. "The British church was Gallican, not ability and effectiveness. Its members have shown what they can de. Their work has given them standing throughout the country. They are known as men of integrity courage and tried and honored executive ability. Let them retain their organization and address themselves to the work of organizing and directing influence for this change. They can command confidence and following. It will take time to bring about origin. Nor was the British church, apparently, ever subject to the Roman see. British Christianity, an independent stream, really touched English life through Irish Christianity by means of the work of the Irish Saint Columba. Probably, however, all the requisite legislation, but they, with their united and characteristic energy, can there is no Celtic succession in English orders. The inheritance from the Celtic church consists in its missionary fervor and in the fruits of its labors, wrought in various parts of early England." accomplish it.
